INTEREST & YIELD

Relationship APY tiers

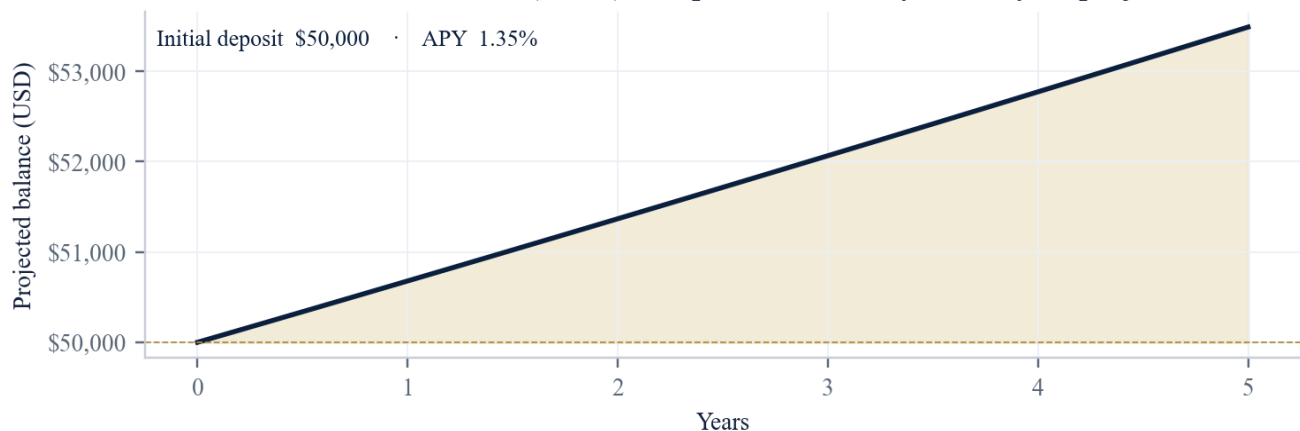

Your APY is set each statement cycle based on the combined month-end balance of your Premier Checking account and all linked Cumulus deposit, investment, and eligible trust accounts, plus the outstanding principal balance of any active Cumulus first-lien mortgage (credited up to $250,000). Interest is accrued daily using the Daily Balance method and credited on the last business day of each cycle.

HOW APY IS CALCULATED

Cumulus uses the Daily Balance method. Interest is accrued each calendar day on the end-of-day collected balance using the rate tier in effect for that day, and is credited to your account on the last business day of each statement cycle. APY assumes interest remains on deposit for 365 days; a withdrawal of interest will reduce earnings.

COMMON QUESTIONS

Frequently asked questions

How is the combined balance that determines my rate tier calculated?

On the last business day of each statement cycle, Cumulus adds the end-of-day collected balances of Premier Checking and all linked Cumulus personal deposit accounts; the most recent market value of linked Cumulus Investment Services brokerage and advisory accounts; and the outstanding principal balance of any active Cumulus first-lien mortgage, credited up to $250,000. Retirement accounts, 529 plans, and trust accounts held in a fiduciary capacity are included at full value.

If my balance falls below a tier threshold mid-cycle, does my APY change?

Rate tiers are determined at the end of each statement cycle. Intra-cycle balance fluctuations do not affect the current cycle's APY. Cumulus provides 30 days' advance written notice of any adverse change to account terms, consistent with Regulation DD.

Are joint-account balances counted toward the combined balance?

Yes. Balances in any joint account on which you are named as an owner are included in full toward your combined balance. The same balance is counted for each joint owner.

Can I link an overdraft source to Premier Checking?

Yes. You may link a Cumulus Personal Line of Credit, a Cumulus savings account, or a Cumulus money-market account as an overdraft source. Transfers from a linked deposit account are processed at no charge; line-of-credit advances accrue interest at the product APR from the date of advance.

Does Premier Debit carry any foreign transaction fees?

No. Premier Debit transactions abroad are converted at the Mastercard interbank rate with no currency-conversion markup. Travel notifications can be set in the Cumulus app to reduce the likelihood of fraud-prevention declines.

How many Premier Checking accounts may a household hold?

One Premier Checking account per primary owner. A household may link one Everyday Checking account, unlimited savings and money-market accounts, and unlimited investment accounts to the Premier relationship.
