AT A GLANCE

Overview

The Cumulus Secured Card is a credit-building tool for clients who are establishing credit for the first time or rebuilding after a setback. It works like a standard credit card — you make purchases and pay the balance — but is secured by a refundable cash deposit that equals your credit line. On-time payments are reported monthly to all three major credit bureaus, building your credit history over time. After 8 months of on-time payments, Cumulus automatically reviews your account for potential graduation to an unsecured Cumulus credit card — at which point your deposit is returned.

WHY THE SECURED CARD

Key benefits

NO ANNUAL FEE No annual fee The Cumulus Secured Card has no annual fee — many secured cards charge $25 – $35 per year.	DEPOSIT IS REFUNDABLE Deposit is refundable Your security deposit is fully refundable. Close your account in good standing and your deposit is returned in full; graduate to unsecured and your deposit is returned automatically.
REPORTS TO ALL THREE BUREAUS Reports to all three bureaus Account activity is reported monthly to Equifax, Experian, and TransUnion — so responsible use helps build your credit history.	PATH TO UNSECURED Path to unsecured Cumulus automatically reviews your account for graduation to an unsecured credit card after 8 months of on-time payments.
VISA-ACCEPTED EVERYWHERE Visa-accepted everywhere Use your card at millions of merchants worldwide. Set up Apple Pay, Google Pay, and Samsung Pay at account opening.	SUPPORT FROM CUMULUS Support from Cumulus Access free credit-education tools and your FICO® Score monthly in the Cumulus app.

HOW YOUR LINE IS SET

Deposit and credit line

Your credit line is equal to your refundable security deposit. Choose any amount between $200 and $2,500 at account opening. A higher deposit gives you a higher credit line and lower credit-utilization ratio, which can support faster credit score improvement. Your deposit is held in an FDIC-insured Cumulus deposit account and earns no interest while pledged.

DEPOSIT	CREDIT LINE	TYPICAL FIRST-MONTH PAYMENT AT 30% UTILIZATION
$200	$200	$60
$500	$500	$150
$1,000	$1,000	$300
$2,000	$2,000	$600
$2,500	$2,500	$750

HOW TO USE THE CARD TO BUILD CREDIT FASTEST

Keep your credit utilization low — ideally under 30% of your credit line each cycle. Pay your statement balance in full and on time every month. Use the card for small recurring charges (like a subscription) with autopay set to the full balance, so you build a consistent on-time payment history without ever risking a late payment.

Graduation	Your security deposit is released (typically within 10 business days) to the deposit account on file. Your credit line may be increased based on income verified at graduation.
Not yet eligible	If graduation is not yet available, Cumulus will reattempt the review every 3 months. You may also request additional deposit at any time to increase your line.

COMMON QUESTIONS

Frequently asked questions

Is my deposit safe?

Yes. Your refundable security deposit is held in an FDIC-insured Cumulus deposit account in your name and pledged as security for your credit line. It is returned to you when you graduate to an unsecured card or close your account in good standing.

Does the deposit earn interest?

No. The security deposit is pledged and does not earn interest while securing the card.

How long until my credit improves?

Most cardholders see meaningful credit-score improvement within 6–12 months of consistent on-time payments and low utilization. Every credit profile is different; Cumulus provides your FICO® Score monthly in the app so you can track your progress.

Can I increase my credit line?

Yes. You may add to your deposit at any time (up to the $2,500 maximum) and your credit line will be increased correspondingly. After graduation to an unsecured card, credit line increases are evaluated through standard underwriting.

What happens to my deposit if I close the account?

If you close your account in good standing (no past-due balance), your refundable deposit is returned within 10 business days of the final statement. If there is a past-due balance, Cumulus applies the deposit to the outstanding balance first and refunds any remainder.
