AT A GLANCE

Overview

Cumulus Corporate Cards deliver a flexible commercial-payment platform for mid-market and enterprise clients. Program design is driven by three choices: card type (standard T&E, premium-travel, or virtual card accounts for AP automation); billing model (individual-bill / individual-pay, individual-bill / company-pay, or company-bill / company-pay); and liability assignment (corporate-only, joint-and-several, or individual). Cumulus pairs the program with merchant-category controls, velocity limits, spend alerts, and expense-management integrations to deliver expense visibility, policy enforcement, and rebate economics at scale.

CONFIGURE TO YOUR POLICY

Program architecture

INDIVIDUAL BILL / INDIVIDUAL PAY Individual bill / individual pay Cardholders receive and pay their own statements; company reimburses via an expense report. Preferred for decentralized programs and when rewards accrue to cardholders.	INDIVIDUAL BILL / COMPANY PAY Individual bill / company pay Cardholders submit expenses; Cumulus debits the company master account for approved spend. Balances rolling-forward at cardholder level for visibility.
COMPANY BILL / COMPANY PAY Company bill / company pay Full corporate liability; all charges post to the company master account. Preferred for T&E; and when centralized AP controls and rebate consolidation are priorities.	VIRTUAL CARD ACCOUNTS (VCAS) Virtual Card Accounts (VCAs) Tokenized card numbers issued on demand via API or Gateway. Single-use VCAs for one-off supplier payments; recurring VCAs for subscription and recurring vendor spend; ghost cards for departmental procurement.
MERCHANT-CATEGORY CONTROLS Merchant-category controls Whitelist / blacklist MCCs at the program or cardholder level; typical restrictions include cash-advance, gambling, and non-policy categories.	VELOCITY AND AMOUNT LIMITS Velocity and amount limits Per-transaction, daily, weekly, and monthly limits per cardholder; auto-freeze on velocity breach or policy exception.

PROGRAM ECONOMICS

Rewards and rebates

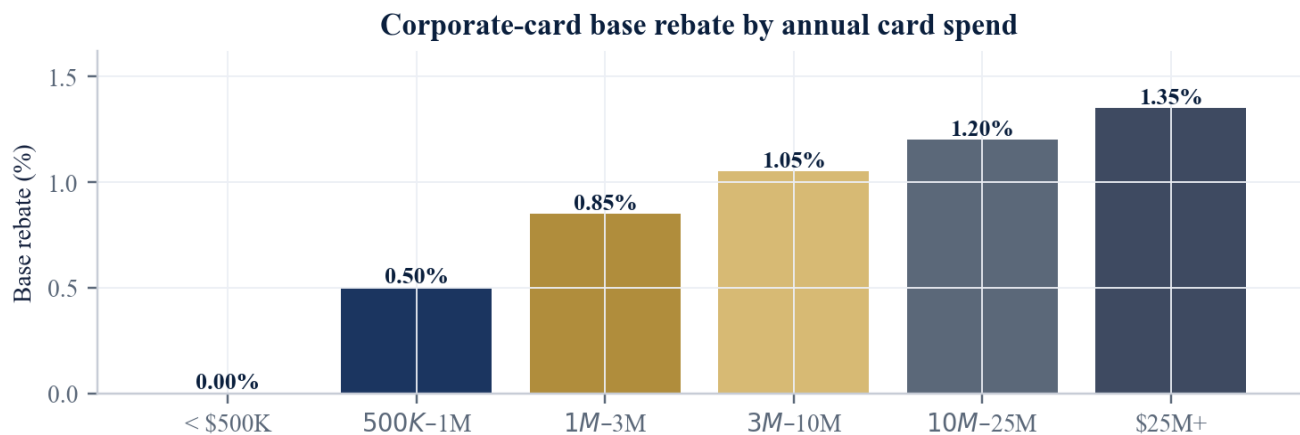

Cumulus Corporate Cards earn rewards or rebates at the program level (default) or at the cardholder level (on individual-bill programs). Rebates are tiered against annual billed spend and DSO; programs with strong DSO discipline (below 25 days from statement date) qualify for top-tier rebates.

TIER (ANNUAL CARD SPEND)	BASE REBATE	PREMIUM-CARD CATEGORY BONUS	VIRTUAL-CARD BONUS
< $500K	0.00%	—	—
$500K – $1M	0.50%	+0.25% travel+dining	—
$1M – $3M	0.85%	+0.50% travel+dining	+0.15%
$3M – $10M	1.05%	+0.50% travel+dining	+0.20%
$10M – $25M	1.20%	+0.50% travel+dining	+0.25%
$25M+	1.35%	+0.50% travel+dining	+0.30% (10 Day DSO)

AP AUTOMATION

Virtual Card Accounts (VCAs)

Virtual Card Accounts are tokenized 16-digit card numbers issued on demand for discrete supplier payments, subscriptions, or department procurement. VCAs carry configurable controls — amount limit, expiration date, MCC restriction, and single-use flag — reducing fraud exposure and streamlining AP workflow. Cumulus pairs VCAs with a Supplier Enablement program to onboard strategic suppliers into card acceptance, typically capturing 0.50%–1.00% rebate on the converted spend.

VCA TYPE	USE CASE	CONTROLS
Single-use	One invoice payment, one authorization	Auto-expire after authorization; amount-matched
Recurring	Subscription, monthly supplier, fixed-cadence	Amount cap, velocity, expiration
Ghost card (departmental)	Centralized procurement (travel desk, marketing)	Multi-user; cost-center-tagged
Lodged card (travel)	Stored with travel agency or hotel for corporate T&E; booking	Booking-type restricted
API-issued (strategic)	Via AP-platform integration (e.g., Coupa, Ariba)	Policy-embedded, auto-reconciled

COMMON QUESTIONS

Frequently asked questions

Which liability model should I choose?

Choose corporate liability when the company wishes to retain all transaction risk and does not require employees to pay personal cards. Choose individual liability when employees cover their own charges and submit for reimbursement. Joint-and-several is a middle ground used when the company wants protection but places some pay-discipline responsibility on the cardholder.

How do virtual cards improve AP?

VCAs eliminate check and ACH issuance for supplier payments, earn rebate on the spend, reduce fraud exposure through single-use tokenization, and provide clean transaction data for reconciliation. Typical AP transformation reduces check-issuance volume by 50%+ within 12 months.

Can we integrate with our expense-management platform?

Yes. Cumulus is certified with SAP Concur, Expensify, Emburse, Ramp, and Certify, with a standard file-export format for any other platform. Integrations deliver transaction auto-categorization, receipt matching, and expense-report seeding.

What happens when a cardholder leaves the company?

Program administrators disable the card immediately via the Cumulus Card Management Portal (or by API). Transactions posted after disablement are declined. Cumulus recommends a card-recovery workflow as part of standard offboarding; unpaid charges on individual-liability programs remain the cardholder's obligation.

Are rewards taxable?

Under current IRS guidance, rewards earned on business purchases are generally treated as rebates (a reduction of the purchase price) and not taxable income. Rewards earned on individual-liability programs where the individual retains the rebate may have different treatment. Consult your tax advisor.

How quickly can a program be implemented?

Standard corporate-card programs deploy in 30–45 days from signed agreement. Complex programs with custom controls, multi-currency, or ERP / AP-platform integrations run 60–90 days. Pilot cards can be issued within 10 business days to test workflow.
