RELATIONSHIP FRAME

Customer context

Use this before a scheduled business review with owners, CFOs, controllers, or treasury managers.

Commercial Relationship Review is designed for relationship manager and business customer use during the semiannual or annual review motion. The document should orient the owner, clarify the current relationship frame, and convert scattered signals into a practical plan that can be reviewed before customer contact.

The core content emphasizes footprint view, operating signals, credit and treasury fit. These areas are intentionally operational: they help the commercial relationship manager understand what is known, what still needs validation, and which follow-up steps should be assigned before the relationship moves forward.

The document is not an automated decision record. It is a generated working draft that should be checked against the system of record, then refined by the banker, advisor, service specialist, or implementation owner who is accountable for the relationship.

Working posture

Use this as a content-heavy planning document. It is meant to collect context, evidence, actions, and controls in one place before the owner decides what should become customer-facing language.

Action plan

| Timing     | Action                                                        | Owner           |
|------------|---------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------|
| Pre-review | Validate products, open service items, and opportunity stage. | RM              |
| Meeting    | Confirm operating priorities and decision timeline.           | RM              |
| Follow-up  | Route credit, treasury, or merchant actions to specialists.   | RM and partners |

Operating notes

Pre-review: RM should validate products, open service items, and opportunity stage. The owner should record the outcome in the CRM activity timeline and identify any dependency that blocks the next step.

Meeting: RM should confirm operating priorities and decision timeline. The owner should record the outcome in the CRM activity timeline and identify any dependency that blocks the next step.

Follow-up: RM and partners should route credit, treasury, or merchant actions to specialists. The owner should record the outcome in the CRM activity timeline and identify any dependency that blocks the next step.

REVIEW BEFORE USE

Controls

- Credit discussion language must remain conditional until underwriting review.
- Confirm financial statement recency before using revenue, debt, or cash-flow details.
- Keep proprietary business details inside approved demo or customer channels.
